Sec. 4. Minnesota Statutes 2024, section 609.065, is amended to read:

609.065 JUSTIFIABLE TAKING OF LIFE USE OF FORCE.

Subdivision 1. Self-defense; no duty to retreat. ~~The intentional taking of the life of another is not authorized by section 609.06, except when necessary in resisting or preventing~~ ~~an offense which the actor reasonably believes exposes the actor or another to great bodily harm or death, or preventing the commission of a felony in the actor's place of abode. For~~ purposes of any section of law that creates a criminal offense, the following apply:

(1) a person who is not engaged in illegal activity has no duty to retreat from any place where the person is lawfully present before using or threatening to use reasonable force, including deadly force, in self-defense, defense of another, or defense of that person's dwelling, as authorized under this section;

(2) except as provided in subdivision 3, a court or jury as trier of fact shall not consider the possibility of retreat as a factor in determining whether a person who used or threatened to use force, including deadly force, reasonably believed that such force was necessary to prevent injury, loss, or risk to life or safety;

(3) a person is justified in the use of or threat to use reasonable force, including deadly force, when the person reasonably believes that such force is necessary to defend the person or another from any actual or imminent use of unlawful force;

(4) a person is justified in the use of or threat to use reasonable force, including deadly force, even if an alternative course of action is available; and

(5) a person may be wrong in the estimation of the danger or the force necessary to repel the danger if there is a reasonable basis for the person's belief and the person acts reasonably in response to that belief.

Subd. 2. Reasonable force justified in responding to a forcible felony. A person who:

(1) reasonably believes that another person is committing or is about to commit a forcible felony; and

(2) uses or threatens to use reasonable force, including deadly force, as authorized under this section, is justified in using or threatening to use reasonable force, including deadly force, against the other person to prevent or halt the commission of the forcible felony.

Subd. 3. Loss of defense. (a) The affirmative defense of self-defense, defense of another, or defense of that person's dwelling is not available in a criminal action in any of the following circumstances:

(1) a person who uses force during the person's commission, attempted commission, or escape after the commission or attempted commission of a crime of violence;

5.1 (2) a person who uses force against another who is an aggressor, if the person initially
5.2 provoked the aggressor to use force or threat of force against the person, unless either of
5.3 the following apply:

5.4 (i) the use of force or threat of force by the aggressor is sufficient for the person's
5.5 reasonable belief that the person is in imminent danger of death or great bodily harm, and
5.6 the person exhausts all reasonable means of escape other than the use of force or threat of
5.7 force that is likely to cause death or great bodily harm to the aggressor; or

5.8 (ii) the use of force or threat of force by the aggressor continues or resumes after the
5.9 person, in good faith, withdraws from physical contact and clearly indicates the desire to
5.10 withdraw and terminate the use of force or threat of force by the person or the aggressor;

5.11 (3) a person who uses force to resist an unlawful arrest if the person uses the force against
5.12 a peace officer and the person using the force knows the person making the arrest is a peace
5.13 officer;

5.14 (4) a person who uses force to resist a lawful arrest if the person uses the force against
5.15 a person making the arrest or against a person assisting in making the arrest;

5.16 (5) a person who uses force against a peace officer or a person assisting a peace officer
5.17 if the peace officer is acting in the performance of the peace officer's official duties; or

5.20 (ii) is prohibited from possessing firearms under section 624.713; and

5.21 (iii) is in possession of a firearm when the force was used.

5.22 (b) When an affirmative defense is not available to a person under paragraph (a), the
5.23 person is not barred from raising any other statutory or common law affirmative defense
5.24 available to the person.

5.25 EFFECTIVE DATE. This section is effective August 1, 2025, and applies to uses of
5.26 force occurring on or after that date.

5.30 charges, or criminal prosecution arising from the person's use or threatened use of the 5.31 reasonable force, including deadly force.

(b) A law enforcement officer may use standard investigating procedures for investigating the use or threatened use of force, including deadly force, but the law enforcement officer shall not arrest a person for the person's use or threatened use of force, including deadly force, unless the law enforcement officer has probable cause to believe that the person's use or threatened use of force, including deadly force, was not justified under section 609.06 or 609.065.

(c) The court shall award reasonable attorney fees, court costs, compensation for loss of income, and all expenses incurred by the defendant in defense of any civil action brought by a plaintiff if the court finds that the defendant is immune from criminal prosecution as provided in paragraph (a).

EFFECTIVE DATE. This section is effective August 1, 2025, and applies to uses of force occurring on or after that date.

Sec. 6. [609.068] PRESUMPTION OF IMMUNITY; PRETRIAL CRIMINAL IMMUNITY; HEARING.

Subdivision 1. Presumption of immunity. Subject to subdivision 3, a person is presumed to have acted in self-defense or defense of another when using or threatening to use deadly force that is intended or likely to cause death or great bodily harm to another if any of the following apply:

(1) the person against whom the deadly force is used or threatened is in the process of unlawfully and without privilege to do so entering, or has unlawfully and without privilege to do so entered, the dwelling, occupied vehicle, place of business or employment of the person using or threatening to use the deadly force, or any other place in which the person using or threatening to use the deadly force is lawfully present;

(2) the person against whom the deadly force is used or threatened is by force or threat removing or attempting to unlawfully remove another person against the other person's will from any place that the person using or threatening to use the deadly force is lawfully present;
or

(3) the person using or threatening to use the deadly force knows or has reason to believe that any of the conditions set forth in clause (1) or (2) are occurring or have occurred.

Subd. 2. Presumption rebuttable. The presumption set forth in subdivision 1 may be rebutted by a preponderance of the evidence, provided that the prosecution's burden of proof remains by clear and convincing evidence as described in subdivision 4, paragraph (d).

7.1 Subd. 3. Loss of presumption. The presumption set forth in subdivision 1 does not
7.2 apply if, at the time the deadly force is used or threatened, any of the following circumstances
7.3 are present:

7.4 (1) the person against whom the deadly force is used or threatened has a right to be in
7.5 the place where the person used or threatened to use the deadly force and a protective or no
7.6 contact order is not in effect against the person against whom the deadly force is used or
7.7 threatened;

7.8 (2) the person sought to be removed as described in subdivision 1, clause (2), is a child
7.9 or grandchild or is otherwise in the lawful custody or under the lawful guardianship of the 7.10 person against whom the deadly force is used or threatened;

7.11 (3) the person who uses or threatens to use the deadly force uses or threatens to use it
7.12 while engaged in a criminal offense, while attempting to escape from the scene of a criminal
7.13 offense that the person has committed, or while using the dwelling, place of business or
7.14 employment, or occupied vehicle to further a criminal offense; or

7.15 (4) the person against whom the deadly force is used or threatened is a law enforcement
7.16 officer who has entered or is attempting to enter a dwelling, place of business or employment,
7.17 or occupied vehicle in the lawful performance of the law enforcement officer's official 7.18 duties, and either the officer identified himself or herself as a law enforcement officer in
7.19 accordance with any applicable law or the person using or threatening to use the deadly
7.20 force knows or reasonably should know that the person who has entered or is attempting to 7.21 enter is a law enforcement officer.

7.22 Subd. 4. Right to hearing; burden of proof; standard of proof. (a) A person accused
7.23 of an offense that involved the person's use or threatened use of force, including deadly
7.24 force, against another has a right to a pretrial immunity hearing regarding a claim of immunity
7.25 from criminal prosecution based on self-defense, defense of another, or defense of that
7.26 person's dwelling.

7.27 (b) A person eligible for hearing under paragraph (a) may file a pretrial motion claiming
7.28 that the person used or threatened to use the force, including deadly force, in self-defense,
7.29 defense of another, or defense of that person's dwelling.

7.30 (c) The filing of the motion establishes a prima facie claim of self-defense, defense of 7.31 another, or defense of that person's dwelling.

7.32 (d) Upon the filing of a motion, the court shall hold a pretrial immunity hearing and
7.33 shall grant the motion and hold that the person used or threatened to use the force, including

8.1 deadly force, in self-defense, defense of another, or defense of that person's dwelling unless
8.2 the state proves by clear and convincing evidence that the person did not use or threaten to
8.3 use the force, including deadly force, in self-defense, defense of another, or defense of that
8.4 person's dwelling, as the case may be.

8.5 EFFECTIVE DATE. This section is effective August 1, 2025, and applies to uses of
8.6 force occurring on or after that date.
